

JAKE COLVIN

VICE PRESIDENT, GLOBAL TRADE ISSUES &
EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR, GLOBAL INNOVATION FORUM
NATIONAL FOREIGN TRADE COUNCIL

As Vice President for Global Trade and Innovation at the National Foreign Trade Council (NFTC), Jake leads work to shape global trade rules and business community engagement with multilateral institutions including the World Trade Organization and Asia Pacific Economic Cooperation (APEC) Forum.

Jake also serves as Executive Director of the NFTC Foundation's Global Innovation Forum, where works with a global network of small business and nonprofit leaders, corporations and government officials to explore the role of technology and trade policies and programs in fostering resilience and inclusive growth.

Jake is a cleared advisor to the U.S. Government as a member of the Trade and Environment Policy Advisory Committee. He has written for outlets including Business Week, Inc. and Politico, testified before the U.S. Congress, and provided analysis for platforms including NBC News, CNN, CNBC, NPR, Time Magazine and the Washington Post. Originally from Long Island, New York, he is a graduate of the Johns Hopkins School for Advanced International Studies and the University of Richmond.