

Increased Exports = More U.S. Jobs
March 25, 2010

FACT: The United States has a Trade SURPLUS in Manufactured Goods with Our 17 Free Trade Agreement
Partners

U.S., Manufactured Goods Trade Balance
With Free Trade Agreement Partners, 2008-09

Source: Foreign Trade Division, U.S. Census Bureau, NAICS 31-33

Our Free Trade Agreements Don't Take Jobs – They Increase Growth & Opportunities.

President Obama has set a national goal of doubling U.S. exports in 5 years. Passing the Colombia, Korea and Panama Trade Agreements and negotiating additional ones are essential.

Our exports nearly doubled from 2003-2008 – a period when we implemented Free Trade Agreements with 11 countries

Increased Exports = More U.S. Jobs
And opening new markets is the key to increasing American exports.

The Trade and American Competitiveness Coalition is made up of U.S. business enterprises that support policies and legislation that will enhance U.S. competitiveness in the international economy to promote growth and prosperity for America's businesses, workers and consumers.